Ike Greeted By Million In India

Eisenhower Vows U.S. Will Work With India State

NEW DELHI (UPI) — President Eisenhower promised today to get closer to Eisenhower, who was grinning broadly and obviously enjoying himself to the hilt. The eight-mile drive to the Presidential Palace took two hours and five minutes.

At one point the swaying crowd hopelessly jammed the presidential procession on its way into town from Palm Airport, and Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru leaped from the car to fight his way on foot to the piloting police car. From there he shouted to the crowds to get back.

THE CROWD BROKE through police lines time after time to get closer to Eisenhower, who was grinning broadly and obviously enjoying himself to the hilt. The eight-mile drive to the Presidential Palace took two hours and five minutes.

For Eisenhower, who had had breakfast in Pakistan and lunch in Afghanistan, it was his third huge crowd of the day. One saw him off at Karachi and another crowd estimated at half a million stopped his procession cold at Kabul, Afghanistan.

EISENHOWER ARRIVED at New Delhi's airport at 5:02 p.m. local time, and it was three hours later that he finally pushed his way through another huge crowd at the Presidential Palace and disappeared from public sight.

The crowd awed both Indians and veteran reporters. "We Indians are used to big crowds," one official said, "but there never was one like this!"

Derailment Injures Five

MT. UNION, Pa. (UPI) — A Pennsylvania Railroad express train, carrying about 140 passengers, derailed in a rugged mountain area of central Pennsylvania early today.

Five persons were injured when the New York to Cleveland train, the Cleveland, left the rails after striking a 12-foot-long steel bar apparently dropped by another westbound train.

Three Red Subs In Pacific, Claim

HONOLULU (UPI) — Three Soviet atomic submarines are operating in the Pacific, the Honolulu Advertiser reported today.

ALL THREE PASSENGERS in the cab of this truck escaped with only minor injuries yesterday after the driver swerved off the road to avoid a major disaster on U.S. Highway 60-70-99, just west of the Highway 111 cutoff. The accident happened when Anthony Perrotta, Montebello, 63, stopped his car in the center of the highway when his hood was caught by the wind and blown against the windshield. He was being followed by a truck which swerved to the left to avoid a collision,

Mrs. Carlin, a member of the Palm Springs City Council, is accompanied by Police Matron Marge Bowman en route to a police car and a ride to her booking at the Police Department. (Desert Sun Photos)

Two Charges In Warrants For Couple

Couple Express 'Surprise' Over Police Action

City Council member Mary Carlin was arrested today on two charges of having violated the city's sign ordinance.

James D. Carlin, husband of the councilwoman, was also arrested on the same charges. Both were booked, photographed and fingerprinted at Palm Springs Police Department and released on their own recognizance.

BOTH MRS. CARLIN and her husband appeared surprised when Police Lt. Ted Greene served them with separate criminal complaints from the court of Judge Eugene Theriault. The complaints were issued after Chief Building Inspector Jack Sanders submitted a formal violation of ordinance request.

Carlin, servicing a route of vending machines, was apprehended by Greene as he prepared to care for a machine located in the new Police Building here. He expressed surprise at the warrant and told the lieutenant that he had thought the city would seek an injunction ordering removal of the sign rather than the arrest. Carlin called his wife, who was on duty at the couple's El Tram Hotel here, and advised her that he had been arrested and that police planned to arrest her as well.

MRS. CARLIN, WHO was baby-sitting her pre-school age son David when officers arrived, watched as the letters on the changeable signboard were removed, then accompanied the officer and matron to Palm Springs Police Department where she was booked as was her husband.

The four-year-old boy watched as his mother walked away and asked: "Where are you going, Mommy?"

"I'm going to jail," Mrs. Carlin called back with heavy sarcasm. "I'm a criminal now for displaying my rate sign."

The refusal of the Carlins to remove the rate sign from the front of their hotel had brought a rash of similar displays in recent weeks. At last week's meeting of the City Council, however, the council — by a 6-1 vote — ordered City Attorney Jerry Bunker to enforce the code.

Bunker said today that "all other rate signs with the exception of that at El Tram have been removed. I had no alternative."

THE WARRANTS SAY that the Carlins violated two sections of the city's sign ordinance, to wit: —That they displayed a sign quoting a price of lodging, a violation of the ordinance. —That they created — with their sign — a distraction that provided a hazard for motorists, also a violation of the code.

The Carlins said that they will be represented in the action by the Riverside legal firm of Best, Best and Kriger.

Yuletide Safety Drive Started By Press Club

The Desert Press Club of Palm Springs today launched its December safety program, under the slogan: "December Can Be Deadly. For a Happy Holiday Season — Play it Safe!"

The slogan is drawn from material of the National Safety Council. The campaign is part of the Palm Springs Safety Council's program of allotting to each member club one month of the year for safety promotion.

THE SAFETY Council's new president, Hardin Hart, Jr., declared, "It is gratifying to see the Press Club taking this responsibility during the peak holiday season. I am sure all public spirited citizens will join our local newspaper and radio people in making this a safe and happy Christmas and New Year's."

Press Club President Norman W. Loftus, said reporters will emphasize safety in special feature stories, radio announcers will broadcast safety messages, and commercial employees — salesmen, office workers and executives — will carry the December safety message to the service clubs of which they are members.

"THE DESERT Press Club of Palm Springs hopes to make this December safety drive an annual contribution to the community's welfare," he declared.

The campaign is being co-ordinated by the Press Club's Professional Committee.

Members of the committee are Phil Stone and Fred Weigel, co-chairmen; Al Le Ance, George Ringwald and Art Sipherd.

Woman Injured In Auto Crash

PALM DESERT — A 68-year-old Palm Desert woman involved in an auto collision in Palm Desert yesterday is in Casitas Hospital today with two legs and several ribs fractured.

The hospital reported that the condition of Mrs. Margaret (Gretchen) Jarman Cheeseman, Desert Sun columnist from Palm Desert, as "fair."

SHE WAS INVOLVED in a collision yesterday evening with two other cars while traveling west on Highway 111, the CHP said.

Also injured, receiving minor cuts and bruises, was Richard Harlan Rodgers, 20, of 1036 Granvia Valmonte, Palm Springs.

THE COLLISION occurred when Mrs. Cheeseman's car hit the rear of the Rodgers car, which was pushing one driven by George Frazier, 616 East Aloma, Palm Springs, the patrol said.

Rodgers' car spun around and lost a wheel, while the Cheeseman car traveled to the center of the road and stopped. The Frazier car rolled ahead and stopped, the patrol said.

School Officials Will Map Study Programs Here

Planning for the Southern Section conference of the California Association for Supervision and Curriculum Development, scheduled at Palm Springs' Riviera Hotel Jan. 22 and 23, was started this week at a meeting here.

Presiding was Mrs. Mary H. Mitchell, director of instruction for the Palm Springs Unified District, who is president of the Southern Section.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Thelma Beardsley, San Bernardino County Schools office; Mrs. Barbara Provost, Dr. Leonard Grindstaff and Dr. Kenneth Weisbrod, Riverside County Schools office; Mrs. Lois Nowlin, school district psychologist.

More than 300 school administrators and supervisors from Inyo, Imperial, Los Angeles, Orange, Riverside, Santa Barbara, San Bernardino, San Diego and Ventura counties are expected for the two-day session.

Major speaker the initial day will be Dr. Arthur W. Combs, teacher of educational psychology, counseling and psychotherapy at the University of Florida. Other speakers will be announced later.

CROSBY KIDS PLAN VACATION, REST

Gary Crosby is under constant doctor's care and he and the other three brothers plan Desert vacations between now and Christmas. Pete Pettito, personal manager for the four sons of Bing Crosby, announced today a visit to his Palm Desert home.

Pettito is still under contract to the four Crosby Brothers and will divide his time between the Desert and Los Angeles while Gary seeks to correct his throat trouble.

THE OTHER THREE brothers will start work on a record album, with Gary to participate if his voice permits, and are scheduled to appear at the National Sports Awards dinner at the Coconut Grove on Dec. 23 — again either as a trio or quartet depending on response to treatment.

"Gary has had a long history of throat trouble," Pettito said. "And the weather we encountered on our current tour, plus the rough schedule we had, didn't improve it. I've got receipts from doctors in every city we played for treatment to his throat."

"IN MONTREAL," he continued, "a doctor advised Gary not to go on the night of the trouble. He went on anyway and lost his voice during the act. The reported fight was nothing more than a loud argument over someone not doing what they were supposed to while on stage."

"I contacted his doctor in Los Angeles the same night and he advised that Gary return for treatment. This was the reason the boys left the El Morocco Casino there, and it was so stated in the

Association Asks Air Park Control

PALM DESERT — Saturday's airplane collision over Palm Desert has aroused another community organization which now is protesting low-flying planes and asking for rigid controls of planes flying in and out of Desert Air Park.

The Desert Community Association, an incorporated group of Palm Desert residents, sent a letter to the General Safety Office, Federal Aviation Agency, Ontario.

questions concerning county taxes at these meetings.

THE JOINT MEETING yesterday discussed the proposed San Jacinto aerial tramway, and a Palm Desert Chamber resolution supporting the project is expected in January.

The Palm Desert Chamber was asked to appoint a committee to work jointly with Palm Springs in attempts to improve air travel service. Other chamber groups in the area may be subsequently invited to participate in the efforts.

COOPER SAID THAT problems relating to congestion of Highway 111 from here into Indio were discussed. Both Chambers oppose freeway construction on the present 111 alignment, favoring instead a freeway alignment east of the airport here, and extending through the valley away from developed areas. Interim improvements including widening and installation of a scenic drive have been requested for Highway 111.

Following the meeting, Jimmy Cooper conducted the visitors on a tour of the chamber building here, and explained operations.

SALARY

State Personnel Board also shows generally low pay among all city personnel with some so low that City Manager Dan Wagner told the Council that it would cost some $8,000 a month to follow recommendations made in the state survey.

HE SAID THAT it would cost approximately one-cent on the tax rate to raise $7,000, and the additional needed to increase city employees' salaries is estimated at almost $100,000.

It would be almost impossible to add some $50,000 to this year's budget in order to give pay increases, it was indicated, but there may be some attempt to provide relief to some of the more critical areas — Police Department and Public Works Department — before the next budget.

It will be requested that the Police Department be raised two steps immediately in order to bring it into conformity with other departments in the state, even though the State report indicates only a one-step increase. Two steps would set patrolman salaries at $520 $20 more than Indio pays.

Fashion Assembly Unveils School Styles

By MARALEE MORRIS

Here we are again, back from Thanksgiving vacation and waiting for Christmas vacation.

The Associated Student Body presented a fashion assembly. The clothes were modeled by Paul Berta, Ragna Kjellman, Jeff Hollander, Maria Marmolejo, Bob Johnson, Leeann Howard, James (Poochie) Hill and Sonya Simon. PSHS lettermen were auctioned off last week when the Varsity Club sponsored a Slave Day and Dance to raise money. It was loads of fun (for the girls, that is) and a big success for the Varsity Club.

The judicial branch of our government is now in full swing. The newly formed student court went into action this week, after the announcement of its members. These members, four students from each class, will preside in court along with the vice president, JoJo Rosin, who is the head of the judicial branch. The court will handle various problems concerning student violations of school laws.

MARGARET AND Mary Linden-

stein, Phil Poist, Richard Kite and JoJo Rosin, student council members, attended the third meeting of the Desert Valley League, at which they discussed sportsmanship and the trophy for football. The next DVL meeting will be held here in Palm Springs on Feb. 1.

On Tuesday, Dec. 1, the Indians played Ramona High School in their first practice game of the season; the score, unfortunately, was 38-38, in favor of Ramona.

Till next week, that's all from the Campus Corner.

Trailer Group Plans Rally

CATHEDRAL CITY — Members of the Palm Springs Area Trailer Parks Inc., met last night at the Blue Skies Trailer Park here where bigger events and plans were discussed for the 10th anniversary of the rally show next year.

USDA Estimate On Cotton Crop Off 100,000 Bales

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department has estimated the 1959 cotton crop at 14,701,000 bales.

This is down 100,000 bales from the November estimate.

The final 1959 report compared with 1958 production of 11,512,000 bales and the 10-year average crop of 14,046,000 bales. Production rose sharply because several million acres of cotton land came out of the discontinued soil bank acreage reserve last spring and yields per acre were near record heights.

The Crop Reporting Board estimated cotton yields this year averaged 465 pounds of lint per acre compared with last year's 466 pounds and a 10-year average of 329 pounds.

Agriculture Department experts do not believe the increased cotton production this year will add to the cotton surplus. Both domestic sales and exports have risen by enough to absorb the increase over last year's crop, officials believe.

The crop board estimated farmers this year harvested 15,164,000 of the 15,803,000 acres of cotton planted. This means that 4 per cent of the acreage was abandoned because of insect damage or other reasons.

What is believed to be the world's only golf club exclusively for women is located in Thornhill, Ontario, Canada.

WHITMAN, POUND 'CENSORED' BY L. A. SCHOOL BOARD

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Poetry of Walt Whitman and Ezra Pound caused as much furor among Board of Education members Monday as D. H. Lawrence's "Lady Chatterley's Lover" recently stirred up in the U.S. Post Office Department.

Charges of censorship again were behind the controversy as the board faced a spokesman for 200 protesting citizens who claimed a book, "The Anthology of American Verse," had been banned at Venice High School.

Superintendent of Schools Ellis A. Jarvis said censorship was not involved. He said the book was banned because the education code prohibited the collection of money in classrooms for the purchase of books.

EARL WILSON

Flynn's Cutie Becomes an 'Idol'

NEW YORK — Hollywood was calling. "This is Beverly Aadland's mother!" said a shrill voice. "You've been writing a lot of so-and-so-and-so-and-so-and-so about my daughter!"

"Just the usual sort of so-and-so-and-so-and-so, or something special?" I asked.

"Don't you know Beverly's a teen-ager's idol?" Mama Aadland demanded. "She's a darling girl—just kinda different. You said she's looking for a ghost writer to tell the story of her love for Errol Flynn. She's already got one—Jaik Rosenstein (editor of a gossip mag). 'He's going to write something damned sexy. Only thing, he wanted Beverly to have a nervous breakdown.'"

"I'd have sworn you said nervous breakdown," I said.

"He said it'd get the public on her side, stir up interest in the book. I said, 'To hell with that nervous breakdown jazz, Jaik. I'll throw you out of the house.'"

Mama Aadland then let me in on a literary secret. They are going to grab the last two chapters of Errol Flynn's book and put it in Beverly's book.

"They were so in love," Mama Aadland said. "I told Beverly, 'Not every teen-ager wants to go around with an old man.' Beverly shouted at me, 'He was NOT an old man!'"

Suddenly on the phone I heard sobbing. "I'm so broken up I can't stand it," the mother said. "Beverly's been after me since she was 7 to divorce her father. Errol Flynn was going to make it possible."

What had started out so pugnaciously concluded very sadly. Wishing her a happier future, I said goodbye. The moral: Be happy if you're not a celebrity in today's confused world.

Tender-hearted Sir John Gielgud, who says he weeps copiously at any excuse, wiped away a tear when the Lambs Club honored him with a luncheon. Lambs Shepherd Bill Gaxton, sitting between Gielgud and Sir Cedric Hardwicke, turned to Margaret Leighton and said: "I'll be brief, as I know you have to go to the bank." Sir Cedric, a new Lamb, explained, "I joined the Lambs because I was afraid if I didn't I would be accused of being anti-British." He also said that he once asked a NY cab-driver if he'd seen Gielgud's "Hamlet." The cabbie said: "No, I don't fancy the name." Sir Cedric asked him: "You mean Gielgud?" The cabbie said, "No, I mean 'Hamlet.'"

FAIRY TALES GET NEW TREATMENT

By AL LE ANCE

Mary McLaughlin is a talented Palm Springs woman who somehow developed a fine flair for breathing new life into old fairy tales.

Right now, she's making fairy tales come to life — on the stage of the El Paseo Theatre here.

A VETERAN show-woman, Mrs. McLaughlin features a new twist for an old tale — a new slant on time-honored yarns of fiction and fancy, something like Hans Christian Andersen mixed with a touch of Noel Coward.

For instance, Mrs. McLaughlin's showcase opened Thanksgiving Day with a play based on "Jack and the Beanstalk," a full three-act "live" performance.

But this "Jack" was a bit of a switch on the mythical citizen who climbed higher on a sack of beans than Able Mouse traveled in his rocket-powered chariot.

"YOU SEE," SHE explained, "I base my plays on the old fairy tales, but I add a few things and change a few things so we have something really new and colorful to offer."

In this case, Mrs. McLaughlin added a pair of crows. Thus, her adaptation of the beanstalk saga becomes "Jack and the Beanstalk and Two Crows."

The crows, portrayed by Showcase crew members, serve to introduce the play and appear in featured roles.

The Sandman's Showcase is the first continuous children's theater ever offered in the desert area. It features original adaptations of classic fairy tales, with Mrs. McLaughlin as producer, director, writer, editor and sometimes actor.

BUT THE SHOWCASE, which Mrs. McLaughlin believes "fills a definite cultural need for resort children," had its beginnings back in the first pages of her voluminous portfolio of theatrical experience.

"I've had this thing in the back of my mind for years," Mrs. McLaughlin recounted, "and I finally decided to do something about it this summer."

She felt this was a "good time" because of the big upswing of resort population and growth.

THEN SHE STARTED searching for a place to stage her plays. The lack of theatrical space was the only real stumbling block in her plans.

"Suddenly, I just happened to think of Martin Beck and his PlayerStage," she said, "and that solved my problems."

Beck leased her space in his PlayerStage Theatre, formerly the El Paseo, and Mrs. McLaughlin's Sandman's Showcase was finally on the boards.

Mrs. McLaughlin's theatrical experience — and her Showcase ideas — date back to her teenage days, when she studied at the Pasadena Playhouse and graduated from the Major School of Dramatic Arts, then located in Los Angeles.

PACKING HER DIPLOMA in her traveling trunk, she took off on a stock company junket that kept her moving across the country for several years. She later played legitimate theater and moved into radio acting in Los Angeles.

Then she debuted in outdoor theater and played the "Senora" role for six consecutive seasons in Hemet's famed "Ramona."

Next came a 10-year sojourn of theatrical tours, including two years with the well-known Bishop's Co. She appeared in such stellar productions as "Born Yesterday," "Anna Christy" and "Lightnin'."

SHE MADE HER break into children's theater in San Gabriel, where she operated her own playhouse for youngsters for two years. Next stop — Palm Springs.

Mrs. McLaughlin now feels that her new Showcase will offer good entertainment, of a "little unusual, slightly different" vein.

"It should appeal to all ages," she said "It's primarily tailored for children from five to 13 but I believe that even adults will enjoy our shows."

It should make junior swap his television guide for a copy of Mr. Andersen's finest yarns.

We Are Closing Down the Translator Station on Friday, Dec. 11th

The Translator Station will go off the air on Friday, December 11th, 1959, by order of the Board of Directors, and it will not be able to go back on the air until the balance of the money needed for another year is received. ## Rate Liston 5-1 Over Besmanoff

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UPI) — Heavyweight contender Sonny Liston, one of the deadliest hitters to come down the resin trail in recent years, was highly favored to make Billy Besmanoff his 19th straight victim tonight in a nationally televised 10-round bout.

Liston, 27, a six-foot, one-inch, 210-pounder from Philadelphia, is third ranked among the contenders. Besmanoff, also 27, is unranked. He was expected to scale 200.

The Quaker City strong man, favored by a 5-1 margin, has three straight knockouts this year in victories over Mike DeJohn, Cleveland Williams and Nino Valdes. He makes no bones about his confidence.

Sword Dancer Heads Field for Rich Anita 'Cap

ARCADIA, Calif. (UPI) — A roster of 90 nominees for the 1960 "Silver Jubilee" renewal of the $145,000 Santa Anita Handicap was named Wednesday for the Feb. 27 classic.

Heading the list was Brookmeade Stable's Sword Dancer and C. W. Smith's Hillsdale.

Sword Dancer, 1959 "horse of the year" as a three-year-old, was named for the rich Santa Anita race to keep him eligible in the event his owners decide to race him in the mile and a quarter event instead of campaigning in Florida.

OTHER STAKES STARS nominated included the brilliant Tony Lee, English-bred winner of the Kentucky Derby; First Landing, 1958 juvenile champion; Terrang, defending champion in the Santa Anita Handicap, and numerous others with outstanding records. Hillsdale was beaten in the $100,000 Woodward Stakes by Sword Dancer, but the Indiana-bred four-year-old won nine stakes during the year. One of these included the Santa Anita $100,000 added Maturity. Another was the Hollywood Park Cup.

Feminine nominees included C. V. Whitney's Silver Spoon, who beat colts in capturing the 1959 Santa Anita Derby.

AMONG MAJOR EASTERN invaders was Sidney M. Barton's Greek Star, winner of five stakes including the $75,000 Trenton Handicap. Greek Star is rated as one of the nation's leading mud runners.

Foreign entries included Lightning II from Peru, Onward There from Japan, Banyan from France, Hieroglyph from England and Mamboreta from Argentina.

Weights for the Santa Anita Handicap will be announced Dec. 18. There was speculation on how Hillsdale would be weighted as a definite starter if he comes to the race against Sword Dancer. The Santa Anita season opens Dec. 26.

JOCKEY SCORES TRIPLE

Eight Clubs Near for New Continental Loop

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — The American League appeared to be weakening on expansion today in the face of Branch Rickey's compelling rhetoric. The Dallas-Fort Worth and Montreal interests are known to be lined up for the completion of the Continental League franchise, recent developments have produced a change in sentiment. Within a few weeks, the Dallas-Fort Worth and Montreal interests were expected to produce the backing for franchises in the new league.

"This is the most gratifying thing that's happened to us since we organized," said a Continental League source. "In recent weeks we have had inquiries from at least two other cities that could support franchises."

Even with eight cities, the proposed third league still had plenty of problems to solve. But at least before long it expected to have passed the first requirement in its bid for major league status.

Schloredt Wins Top Grid Prize

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Quarterback Bob Schloredt of the University of Washington was named winner of the 1959 W. J. Voit memorial trophy Tuesday as the top football player on the Pacific Coast.

Tourney to Pick Local Net Team Begins at Clinic

Peter Tomack, 13, and Cindy Elliott, 14, won the boys' and girls' singles competition at last Saturday's session of the Junior Tennis Clinics conducted each week at Palm Springs High courts under the direction of Dave Gilling, Racquet Club pro, and took a long stride toward making the local team which will meet a team from Redlands Tennis Clinic January.

Rick Libbott, 11, and Terry Nunan, 10, were the winners in doubles competition.

RUNNERS UP were Dale Fritz, 10, in the boys' singles, Nancy Coffey, 14, in the girls singles and Tomack and Bob Turzian in the boys doubles.

Gilling is staging a series of tournaments to determine the make-up of the local clinic team which will meet Redlands.

Second tourney in the series is planned next Saturday at the high school courts.

NEW TENNIS BALLS were awarded several of the class who achieved the most practice time the previous week. They went to Ely Vines Jr., Nancy Coffey, Barbara Jo Graves and Shirley Janink.

The clinics are held every Saturday morning at the high school courts from 9 to 11 and are open to all area youngsters between the ages of 9 and 14.

Assisting Gilling in the clinics were Ray Grog of the City Recreation Department, and Steve Rosen, Eugene Neischuler and Fred Rubin, high school students.

Another Award Awaits Cannon

NEW YORK (UPI) — Billy Cannon of Louisiana State will receive another addition to his bulging collection of awards tonight when he is presented the Heisman Trophy as the outstanding college football player of 1959.

The presentation will be made by Vice President Richard M. Nixon at the Downtown Athletic Club.

RESIDENTS of the new desert resort community of Bermuda Dunes near Palm Springs found a golfing Kris Kringle in their midst—Bill Jelliffe of Lakewood, Ore. So they promptly voted him "Santa Claus of 1959." Besides his amazing Santa Claus resemblance, Jelliffe's golfing prowess was decidedly in his favor in the voting. Bermuda Dunes is the home of the famed Bermuda Dunes Country Club.

Colts Choice By 10 Points Over Rams

Baltimore Also Favored to Beat Giants for Crown

By EARL WRIGHT
United Press International

The Baltimore Colts are 10-point favorites to whip the Rams Saturday at Los Angeles and qualify to entertain the New York Giants Dec. 27 in the National Football League's championship game. The 12 clubs play their final regular season games Saturday and Sunday.

Baltimore, leading the San Francisco Forty-Niners and Chicago Bears by a game, needs a victory or a tie at Los Angeles to capture its second straight Western Division crown.

THE GIANTS CLINCHED their second straight Eastern title last Sunday when they walloped the Cleveland Browns, 48-7. New York (9-2) is a nine-point choice to end its regular season with a victory Sunday against the Redskins (3-8) at Washington.

The oddsmakers are so confident the Colts (8-3) will retain the Western title that they already have tabbed them three - point choices to defeat the Giants in the championship game. Baltimore won the league title last year with a 23-17 overtime triumph over the Giants at New York.

SAN FRANCISCO (7-4) is favored over the visiting Green Bay Packers (6-5) by five points and the Bears (7-4) are favored over the Detroit Lions (3-7-1) by 7½ at Chicago in Sunday action. If the Rams (2-9) upset the Colts Saturday, the Forty-Niners and Bears can tie for the Western title and force playoff games by winning Sunday.

In Sunday's other regular season finales, the Eagles (7-4) are favored over the Browns (6-5) by one point at Philadelphia while the Steelers (5-5-1) are 10-point choices to whip the Chicago Cardinals (2-9) at Pittsburgh.

CLEVELAND, which failed to win the Eastern title for only the third time in 10 years, must defeat the Eagles to tie that team for second place. If Philadelphia wins and Pittsburgh downs the Cardinals, the Browns would wind up fourth. The only other time Cleveland ever finished that low was in 1956 when it tied for fourth with a 5-7 record.

Ingo and Jensen In Scandinavian "Double" Award

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Boxing Writers' Assn. today awarded the fighter-of-the-year trophy to heavyweight champion Ingemar Johansson and the long, meritorious-service award to fight-manager Marv Jensen in a "Scandinavian double."

Unbeaten Jolansson of Sweden is the first European to win the coveted Edward J. Neil memorial plaque for fighter of the year since its inception in 1938.

Jensen of West Jordan, Utah—manager of middleweight (NBA) champion Gene Fullmer—is the first Utah-born notable to win the 20-year-old James J. Walker memorial trophy for long and meritorious service to the sport. Jensen's father is Swedish and his mother was Norwegian.

Presentation of the trophies to Ingemar and Marv will be made at the writers' annual dinner in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, Jan. 14.

Mrs. Kennedy Surprised on Birthday

Forgetting that it was her birthday too, Mrs. Donald Kennedy, who works at Sheppards at White-water, joined in the "Happy Birthday" song, when she walked into the diningroom late Saturday night. It was not until she recognized her husband and a group of Palm Springs friends at the table that she realized the "Happy Birthday" was her own.

The group, headed by her husband, arrived about midnight and occupied one long table. There was champagne with the buffet dinner, a birthday cake, and many gift packages for Mrs. Kennedy. In the party were Mr. and Mrs. James Harris, the Bob Whites, Wally Simmons, Betty Strebe, Violet Hariston, and Mr. and Mrs. Worth Matthis of Banning.

Around Town

with Hildy Crawford
Phone FA 5-5005

That old saw . . . that you meet such interesting people in the newspaper business . . . is old but true . . . especially around town in Palm Springs . . . which is the world's third crossroads . . . where everyone shows up sooner or later . . . Princes and big game hunters . . . the President and the nation's top newsmen . . . top level executives and the Governor . . . international polo players and golfers . . . maharajahs and movie and television stars of varying radiance . . . star on the social scene . . . and it adds interest to the party-go-round . . . that when you go out tonight . . . you never know who you will meet at that cocktail party . . . or encounter in a restaurant or night club . . .

What brought this on . . . was that party Bob Taliaferro whipped up to celebrate Hermoine Gingold's birthday . . . Hermoine (she of the Jack Paar show . . . star of "Almanac" on Broadway . . . and about to open in "It's About Time") was here with the Sinatra television troupe that came out to shoot some desert scenes . . . and she has a second good reason to remember December 7th . . . It's her birthday . . . Bob . . . who's acquiring stature as a party giver (someone was calling him "Mr. Perle Mesta") . . . opened up the Desert Inn's Presidential suite . . . asked Santos to whip up a few hors d'oeuvres set out the bottles of champagne . . . and opened the doors . . . to stars, studio personnel, agency men . . . and a few lucky ones . . .

The great Ella Fitzgerald was there (the profession loves this one) and Juliette Prowse (a coming star) . . . Duke (Harold Jr.) Lloyd in a red jacket and fresh from the Grove . . . John Bradford the writer . . . Marvin Paige who produced "Luncheon at Sardi's" . . . and has just completed 78 shows . . . 39 for ABC's "Congressional Investigator" and others for "Police Station" . . . the Hilo Boys . . . Jim Washburn (network production coordinator for the western division of ABC . . . Jerry Fonorow (account executive for Times for this show) . . . Elaine and Jim Eilers from New York . . . Jim is with the agency that represents Times (Sinatras' sponsor) . . . and they just finished a show in Miami . . . and are working on arrangements to go to Russia to film the Moscow State Circus . . . He was quite enthusiastic about the Circus and said there's nothing like it in the world today . . . There were a few Palm Springers in the crowd . . . George Beebe and Arlene Cox . . . Millie and Don Bollman . . . Dottie Buckingham and Winsome Courtney . . . Jacquie Cole (her partner the Charlie Beckers are here again . . . Win is just back from Elizabeth Ardens and looking great) . . . The Sinatra Show with its desert shots . . . will be telecast next Sunday . . . It's the men who will get a chance to recover from the holidays first . . . because there's to be a special Men Only week at Golden Door starting January 3 . . . This is really special . . . as Life magazine is planning to cover the entire week . . . Author-philosopher Aldous Huxley and film star-writer Jim Backus are already booked for the week (it's their second time round) . . .

I hear Walt Disney is pleased that Palm Springs . . . warm and sunshiny (well, usually) winter golf capital . . . was the first of the cities to sign up for the Winter Olympics statues of snow and ice . . .

Harry Smith . . . who operates the world's largest distribution center for newspapers from around the world . . . in that famous Los Angeles spot . . . is a member of the Desert Press Club . . . sponsors for the Olympic statue with the Palm Springs plaque . . . and a firm believer in the benefit that comes from this type of promotion.

Harry says that the last time the Olympic Games were held in California . . . away back in 1936 . . . he had a display of all foreign publications from all over the world . . . and it brought thousands of people to his place of business . . . He has again been selected to represent the international publishers at the Olympics and will have girls dressed in costumes of their own countries . . .

Harry believes that the plaque on the statue . . . will do Palm Springs a world of good . . . and gave $25 toward the $2000 cost . . . which the Press Club has underwritten . . . Another Press Club member Mrs. Austin McManus is giving $50 . . .

This new cold spell must have relieved the Squaw Valley folks who were worrying about the lack of snow . . . Actually as far as the Snow Men are concerned . . . they are made of a clear plastic . . . so they'll look all right . . . even if the ice and snow should fail . . .

The informal opening for El Dorado's fabulous new clubhouse has been set for the night of December 19 . . . It will be an "On the House" cocktail party for members . . .

Sew discarded shoulder pads on wire hangers and hang jersey or other sheer garments without stretching or drawing.

Playhouse Season Drawing Near

"The recent Palm Springs Playhouse Guild membership tally is indicative of the great growth of the desert areas," was the comment of membership chairman, Mrs. Robert Morrey of Palm Desert, at a Guild board meeting.

"While membership activity was started earlier than usual this year," she continued, "the interest being expressed in supporting this non-profit civic organization is encouraging and stimulating. Anyone and everyone interested in enjoying fine professional theatre on the desert, an opportunity to hear the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra in Palm Springs as well as see the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo, also scheduled for an early appearance, is invited to join with the Guild in achieving the goal set six years ago when it was organized to bring the best cultural attractions obtainable to the desert area. All memberships are tax deductible.

Recent addition to the Guild board of trustees, administrative body of the organization, is Dr. Samuel Salinger as first vice president who is well known in Palm Springs for his many civic activities during his thirty years of residency.

"It will be a pleasure to work with the Playhouse Guild and the Playhouse theatre," Dr. Salinger remarked upon his appointment. "I have always been interested in the theatre and numbered among my friends and acquaintances in Chicago and New York many members of the theatrical profession."

The other masculine member of the board, also new for the 1960 season, is Dwain Clark of the law firm of Rumwell and Clark. Feminine members, Mrs. Arthur H. Rolapp and Mrs. Harold P. Cooper, are serving for the first time this season.

Among the new names listed by Mrs. Morrey on the sponsor membership roster are the John Curcis, George E. Clausens, John Dawsons, Frank Godchaux, Jr., Frank H. Hoys, Carl R. Megowens, Tom Mays, Frank Ryans, Edward Smalls, William A. Seiders, Dean Watsons, William J. Bushs, Mrs. Vera Jones, Mrs. Gertrude Searls, Mrs. George Wright and

Christmas Card Etiquette Uses Rules-But Sensibly

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stumped on Christmas-card etiquette? Use common sense, plus a few simple rules.

Dad's name comes first on the signature when small fry are included. List the youngsters according to age. Last names are given if identification is needed.

Do not put titles such as "Mr." or "Mrs." before the signature unless your cards are very formal and engraved. Then the signature is written, "Mr. and Mrs. John Doe."

Do not address envelopes to "Mr. and Mrs. Will Smith and Family." If possible, send a separate card, or address the envelope to the parents, and on the inside, write, "To Mary and Will, and Bobby and Betty."

It's proper and thoughtful to send cards to persons in mourning, but select cards with understanding. Religious greetings or cards designed for the purpose are appropriate.

It is customary to address a widow by the same title she used when her husband was alive, such as "Mrs. William White."

The correct form of address to a divorcee is to add her maiden surname before her ex-husband's name. For example, "Mrs. Addison Jones."

Always write "The Reverend" before the name of a priest or minister. The correct form for Protestant ministers with doctor of divinity degrees is "The Reverend Dr. Paul Smith" or "The Reverend Paul Smith, D.D." Initials of a special order or rank should be added to the names of Roman Catholic priests.

If you receive a card from someone not on your list, don't rush out and mail a card in return if it will arrive too late. Instead, send a New Year's card or

If a leaky faucet gets on your nerves before it can be fixed, tie a string to the faucet handle near the tip, and let the string hang down into the sink. It won't fix the leak, but it will silence the drip.

On Circle Theatre

Moonshining Set As Show Topic

Moonshining — a little known but extensive racket that cheats the government out of more than $750,000,000 a year in taxes — will be explored in "Operation Moonshine" on "Armstrong Circle Theatre" on the CBS Television Network Wednesday, Dec. 9 (10-11 p. m. p.s.t.).

"Operation Moonshine" details the careful preparation by Treasury Department agents for seizure of a large still in a north eastern city.

In line with the government's plan, undercover man Bill Carey (William Smithers) is assigned to capture the owner on his still site and put him out of business. Carey sets himself up in a cheap boarding house, from which he sells sugar to the moonshiners.

After becoming an accepted member of the gang, he maneuvers to trap the still owner.

In addition to William Smithers, the cast includes Ford Rainey, John La Salle, Val Avery, Mark Dano, Joseph Sullivan and Dan Morgan.

Bishop Sheen Analyzes Human And Divine Love

Bishop Fulton J. Sheen analyzes human and divine love and discusses "The Three Intimacies of Love" during KTTV's BISHOP SHEEN PROGRAM, Wednesday, Dec. 9, 9:30 p. m., Channel Eleven.

Analyzing the human divine aspects — the Bishop finds three intimacies of love. The first is the summation of a second way of communion — the second way of communion is vision — the vision of the beloved or a vision of divinity. The third, and most delicate, personal intimacy of love is touch, which transmits the deepest and most special kind of communion.

'Long Journey' To Be Subject

Host explorer Norman Dyhrenfurth presents a Cannes Film Award winning film of an expedition several hundred miles beyond the Arctic Circle, "The Long Journey," on Expedition! Wednesday, Dec. 9, 7 p. m., KCOP, Channel 13.

NEVA AKI, MAKING her professional debut on television, stars as a young Chinese girl who learns her white college student boy friend is wanted for murder in "Chinatown Story" on "The Lineup" Wednesday, Dec. 9 (CBS Television Network, 7:30-8:30 p. m., p.s.t.). Mark Damon stars as the student whose nighttime prowling as a burglar leads to the slaying of his accomplice. Warner Anderson is Lt. Ben Guthrie, with William Leslie, above, also featured as a member of the San Francisco Police Department.

PHILADELPHIA STORY EFFECTIVE

By FRED DANZIG
United Press International
NEW YORK (UPI) — I kept waiting for old Charley Weaver to pop up in the NBC-TV production of "The Philadelphia Story" Monday night and let loose his famous whoop.

"These are my people!"

Seriously, even if these people seemed a bit strange, they put on an effective adaptation of Philip Barry's story of a character-building wedding on Philadelphia's Main Line.

showing the guests was an unfortunate omission but who cares if a scene or two didn't come off? The thing about a play like this is — who cares?

The most interesting points in the production were seeing Plummer abandon his ever-present "intense" look and play a Tony Randallish part so easily, and watching Miss Lynn handle her sweet-but-daggerlike assignment so stylishly. And Robert Asher deserves a bouquet, too. He composed the fine background music.

DIALING AND FILING: Play Your Hunch returned to NBC-TV Monday morning, in place of Treasure Hunt. I don't know how the contestants feel about it, but I think emcee Merv Griffin has the right approach to the show. He doesn't seem to take it seriously at all.

Danny Thomas appeared on Milton Berle's special some weeks ago and Monday night, Berle repaid the debt by appearing on Thomas' CBS-TV half hour. They unloaded some atrocious gags, but the basic theme was a good one and they brought off not one, but two, cute finishes.

THE CHANNEL SWIM: During a recent visit to Paris, CBS-TV's Person to Person crew taped visits to the homes of fashion designer Pierre Balmain, Olivia De Havilland, Jean Pierre Aumont and his wife, Marisa Pavan.

AS FAR AS I'M concerned this sort of airy yarn is so right for TV because it has so much more velocity than impact. Think of it: For 90-minutes we sat there waiting to discover who lovely, cool, cunning Tracy Lord — played by Diana Lynn — would marry. Of course, she's as surprised as we are when she finally decides.

This sort of production needs a galloping pace to succeed and it got just that from Fielder Cook's direction and the enthusiastic playing of the stars, especially Miss Lynn, Christopher Plummer and Gig Young.

HOWEVER, THERE were some rough, sticky spots in the otherwise professional presentation.

Miss Lynn, on her wedding day, trying to straighten out her life and, later, making a cryptic speech to the wedding guests. Not

HOW LARGE IS U.S. SPACE TEST LAG

Editor's Note: How do scientists arrive at their estimates that America is so many years behind-or-ahead of the Russians in a given field of space exploration? What do these estimates mean? And what is the score sheet today in the various contests? UPI correspondent Joseph L. Myler gives some of the answers in the following dispatch.

By JOSEPH L. MYLER
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Scientist X says the United States is at least two years behind the Russians in space. Scientist Y says five years. Scientist Z says maybe a decade.

Such estimates are guesses. Even if one of them was right, no U. S. scientist can possibly know when or whether this country ever will catch up.

ONLY THE RUSSIANS are in a position to make a logical estimate of the gap between them and us. They are privy to most of the U. S. space capabilities and plans, which are public property, whereas this country knows little about theirs.

When scientists say the United States is behind the Russians, they mean mainly that it lacks their space muscle. They have the more powerful rockets with which to boost scientific payloads into space. This country has launched more satellites and space probes—the score is about 15 to six.

BUT TWO YEARS after 180-pound Sputnik I, the heaviest satellite America had managed to put up was 69-pound Explorer VII. So it was more than two years behind Russia's first and feeblest space achievement.

U. S. officials say the Russians went to work on powerful boosters seven years before this country did. By some time in 1961 the United States expects to have a rocket vehicle capable of matching muscles with the boosters that put Russia's 2,925-pound Sputnik III in orbit May 15, 1958. By 1964-65 America may have a rocket roughly twice as powerful as those which flung the Soviet Luniks into the sky.

BUT NO U. S. SPACE official expects the Russians to rest on their laurels in the meantime. To catch up with the Russians and eventually take over the lead, the United States would have to come up with a rate of progress greater than theirs. Has the development program capable of pulling it even with the Russians?

The answer, according to a noted American space scientist, is "no." According to this scientist, Dr. William H. Pickering, the United States is not competing with the Russians in space. Pickering, director of the jet propulsion laboratory at Pasadena, Calif., said this country must work harder or declare itself out of the race.

IN MANY RESPECTS U. S. scientific accomplishments in space, despite weaker muscles, have been greater than the Russians'. We discovered the radiation zones named after Dr. James A. Van Allen of the State University of Iowa.

Americans discovered that the earth is slightly pear-shaped. They also learned that the atmosphere is denser and hotter at satellite altitudes than had been supposed.

Since the United States lacked rocket power, it made a virtue of necessity and carried the art of miniaturization perhaps farther than the Russians have. Where the Russians allot pounds for a specific instrument, this country can afford only ounces.

U. S. SCIENTISTS are fond of saying that some American satellites and probes have been "more sophisticated" than the heavier and roomier Russian versions.

But in space power and engineering the Russians have demonstrated sensational superiority. U. S. scientists were overwhelmed with admiration for the skills which enable the Russians to put a rocket behind the moon and then maintain it in space for 40 minutes while a camera took a picture.

THE RUSSIANS HAVE gone dramatically onward and upward in each of their six space shots while America, for the most part, was repetitiously firing a multiplicity of satellites and probes which blazed no new trails.

The consensus appears to be that while U. S. science matches the Russians', it is far behind in space engineering. According to Pickering, it will take us years to acquire the engineering experience that the space age demands.

IN ATOMIC developments, the United States still claims the lead. Chairman John A. McCone of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission said after a tour of Soviet nuclear power establishments and laboratories that "we are ahead" and are likely to stay there.

U. S. officials contend that the Russians built their big rockets because their hydrogen warheads were primitively big and awkward.

BUT ACCORDING to McCone the Russians, too, have developed "the light, high-yield warhead." This, he said, has paid them "two handsome dividends." The Russians can now deliver nuclear warheads at greater distances than first anticipated, McCone said, and they can put huge payloads into space.

"Hence," McCone said, "in this area they hold an advantage we cannot easily overtake."

BICYCLE BUILT FOR 1 1/2 would be an apt title for this new two-wheeler, designed by Village visitor Walter Fisher, of Alberta, Canada. Fisher, manager of a skier's chair lift operation, designed this unique, parcel (or pup) carrying bike when he decided it was about time someone came up with a practical bicycle, capable of solving the parking problem while it eases mylady's shopping chores. Here, Fisher's wife, Eva, models the tough, lightweight carryall that "caused a sensation" all over Europe and, in fact, just about everywhere it goes, according to Mrs. Fisher. The Fishers, now staying at the La Riviera Hotel here, are looking for someone to manufacture and market their patented bike—which Mrs. Fisher regards as a "new look" in bicycles since, she explained, "bike styles never changed until my husband designed this one."

POPULATION RISE POSES BIG PROBLEM

By LOUIS CASSELS
WASHINGTON (UP) — If you read at average speed, 18 children will be born in the world during the time it takes you to read this sentence.

Nine people have died during the same interval of time. So the world's population showed a net growth of nine.

EVERY 24 HOURS, the total grows by 135,000. Each year it increases by about 50 million — the equivalent of adding an entire nation the size of France. This is the "population explosion" that has plunged religious and political leaders into controversy over the need for global birth control measures.

THE BASIC FACTS of population growth are not in dispute. In recent years, the introduction of modern health measures has caused a sharp drop in death rates, particularly in underdeveloped countries. But birth rates generally have remained at traditional high levels.

The result has been a dramatic acceleration in the rate at which the human race is multiplying. Before World War II, total population growth never exceeded 1 per cent a year. Today the growth rate is about 1.7 per cent world wide, and more than 4 per cent in some parts of Asia and Africa.

AT THIS RATE, the population of the earth will increase from the present 2,900,000,000 to about 4,000,000,000 by 1980, and to more than 6,000,000,000 by the end of the century.

If the facts are not in dispute, their implications are. An increasingly acrimonious debate, which already has involved President Eisenhower, Protestant and Catholic religious leaders and nearly all candidates for the 1960 presidential nominations, centers around three questions.

THE FIRST IS: How serious is the problem of population pressure?

The Catholic Bishops of the United States, in a formal statement last week, asserted that "pessimistic population predictors" have greatly exaggerated the danger. They expressed confidence that "the thus far hidden reservoirs of science and of the earth" can be tapped to provide adequately for a growing world population. Some scientists support this view.

ON THE OTHER HAND, many authorities agree with Robert C. Cook, president of the Population Reference Bureau, who says that present rates of population growth are "as ominous a threat to mankind as the H-bomb."

They say that runaway human fertility already is wiping out hard-won gains in food production in underdeveloped countries and that mass starvation is a real possibility in the not-too-distant future.

THE SECOND QUESTION is: What, if anything, should governments do to curb population growth?

Japan's answer is a drastic national program of birth control, including legalized abortions and free sterilization clinics, which has cut the nation's birth rate in half since 1947. No other country has gone quite so far. But India has been setting up clinics to dispense birth control information and devices. Similar programs are under consideration in other underdeveloped countries.

And that brings up the third question:

SHOULD THE United States encourage such programs, by providing foreign aid funds to help carry them out, or by sponsoring research on new, cheap and reliable methods of birth control that are adaptable to mass use in underdeveloped countries?

Two recent foreign aid studies have hinted that this would be a good idea.

The U. S. Catholic bishops clearly have these reports in mind when they charged last week that aid to obtain U. S. foreign aid funds to "promote artificial birth prevention programs."

PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL Bishop James A. Pike of San Francisco asserted that the Catholic bishops' stand would "condemn rapidly increasing millions in less fortunate parts of the world to starvation, bondage, misery and despair."

The International Cooperation Administration has said that it has no plans whatever to provide any birth control information to countries as part of the foreign aid program.

High Fashion Is La Roma Feature

Roma Marvin, who was manager of the Nobby Knit Shop, then owner of Roma's in The Center for several seasons and who has been the manager of Diane Hand Knits since it opened in Palm Springs, has, since Diane has gone strictly wholesale, purchased Diane's lease and is operating a smart dress shop under the name of La Roma.

She will carry Diane Hand Knits, plus a varied type of the newest in high fashions.

Tobacco advertisers increased their investment in daily newspapers 23.4 per cent in 1958. The $28,432,000 spent by cigarette companies represented an 18 per cent increase; the $5,038,000 spent by cigar manufacturers a 56.4 per cent gain.

Law in Action

Medics Gain Aid
For Emergencies

The good samaritan goes out of his way to help someone and, alas, often gets it in the neck for his pains.

But the recent California Legislature lifted its hand to help one kind of samaritan — the doctor who faces an emergency and must act without getting specific permission from his patient (who may well be unconscious).

a doctor to look after his patients at least as well as do other doctors in good standing where he lives. Should a doctor hold himself out as a specialist, he is expected to meet further standards of his specialty in the community.

The law allows that where there is a reasonable doubt as to the treatment doctors may use their best judgment, even if it turns out to be wrong.

PEOPLE HAVE long known that doctors had a moral if not a legal duty to aid someone imperiled in an emergency.

But in an automobile accident, say, such a doctor often had to hesitate — or take matters in his own hands at personal risk — to give help to someone he believed in good faith needed medical care at once. Sometimes, too, a specialist in such an emergency had to act outside his specialty, perhaps in an unfamiliar area.

AT ANY RATE the Legislature this time relieved persons licensed under the Medical Practice Act from civil liability for acts or omissions in good faith in giving care at the scene of an emergency.

Outside of emergencies the law holds doctors to certain standards. It sets out the kind of education and internship they must have.

IN PRACTICE THE law expects

It's against the law in Minnesota to carry a bottle of intoxicating or non-intoxicating malt liquor with its seal broken anywhere in the driver or passenger compartment of a car — including the glove compartment.

FOR OTHERWISE, the doctor might hesitate to act at all, or choose a "safer" treatment, which would in time be harmful to the health of patients.

Outside of emergencies, a doctor, dentist, or hospital almost always requires a patient's consent for an operation.

PET SHOP MUST PAY FOR LOSING 'CLEVER'
PET ALLEY KITTY

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Municipal Judge Byron Arnold ordered the Avenues Pet Shop to pay $500 Monday for losing an alley cat which had been entrusted to its care.

The owner, Richard D'Amico, argued during a two-hour trial that the cat was "just like a member of the family."

"He ate poached eggs for breakfast," D'Amico said. Dr. Ernest Siegel, co-owner of the pet hospital, admitted that the cat apparently was an exceptional one.

"He must have been very clever," Siegel said, "he escaped."

Invitation to the Weary Traveler

Military Individualism

CAMP LEJEUNE, North Carolina — Like the tramping of a wine grape or the crushing of a mint leaf in these Southern parts, the continued cutting down of the Marine Corps seems rather to do anything else. And the essence, of course, is individualism.

There are only 175,000 Marines left after the successive Pentagon cut-backs, but the Leatherneck remains the most singular fighting man in the world. A camp-following journalist soon gets the idea that almost everything done at this renowned training - staging - experimental post is to personalize the art of winning and surviving the battle.

FOR INSTANCE, the one-man helicopter, called the YRON-1, has recently become integral to the Marine concept of vertical envelopment. Instead of storming beachheads as they did with such gallantry and success as recently as the Inchon landings in Korea, the Marines now surge inland under the whirl of rotors and seize key positions.

The one-man "rotocycle," with a maximum speed above 70-miles-per-hour, would be invaluable for reconnaissance, artillery observation, wire laying and general liaison in any imaginable brush-fire incident.

MUCH EVIDENCE has been laid upon the Soviet Union's 175 divisions and the Red Chinese armed masses, but these unwieldy hordes could not be assembled without setting off worldwide alarms and probably triggering atomic attacks or counterattacks. This situation lends itself to the use of swift, mobile striking forces in which the individual fighter is the smallest possible target.

At the Camp Lejeune field, research laboratory tests are being made of an ikeskate type of combat footwear to help the individual Marine against anti-personnel mines. The boots stand upon several inches of bevel stainless steel. They are intended to scatter the fragments of exploding mines away if possible, from the legs and body of the man.

MARINE MEDICAL experimenters here are strong on truth-telling and do not pretend to make war "safe." There are some body-armor experiments which are based on the frank admission that a "bullet-proof" vest is not possible in combat—but something can be done about a few low-caliber bullets and chiefly about artillery fragments which cause four times as many wounds as direct hits.

With some small-business help from the nearby Bristol (Va.) firm, Universal Moulded Products, this field laboratory is using shaped fiberglass plates called DORON and pads of weight-saving nylon to cover Marine infantrymen from shoulder to crotch. The field laboratory is also getting and using important data on metals stress from the Measuring Systems Company of Phoenixville (Pa.).

THERE ARE STUDIES in progress on such personal vicissitudes as snake-bite, mosquito-biting, seasickness and diarrhea. There is research on anesthetized animals in hope of finding first-aid treatment for nuclear battle burns.

With the use of an experimental chamber at the University of North Carolina, work is in progress to "freeze" the physical fitness of a Marine who might be snatched from this temperate zone and asked to fight five hours later near the Equator or in the Arctic. A 20-pound, one-operator anti-aircraft missile, called Redeye, is under joint development by the Marine Corps and the Army.

THE MARINE CORPS' singleness of purpose — close combat — is inherent in the unrelenting emphasis on speed and mobility. The Second Marine Division is stationed here to support the Atlantic Fleet with at least one battalion at 15-minute readiness.

The integration in a Churchill-coined phrase of the "triple-ohs" forces goes on apace. Soon there will be a new type of landing craft which simultaneously launches helicopters and assault boats. The Marine Air Wing, typically, is developing its tactics with the world's smallest nuclear-capable aircraft, the A-4-D. There is another one-man deliverer of the atomic-punch, the F-4U.

Characteristically, while the Corps goes in for risking and protecting the individual fighter, there is almost no emphasis on area defense. In fact, the overdone word and idea of "defense," with its political overtones of "peace," are just about missing when you are among the United States Marines. The Leathernecks, now more than ever, live it up dangerously.

—Holmes Alexander

STAN DELAPLANE: This Side Of The Sun

By Phat

These new signal lights, Tape-equipped, that talk Will prob'ly arouse A neighborhood squawk.

Traffic authorities have found a new way to harass jaywalkers. Than whom there is no class more needful of harassment.

THE NEW DEAL works like this. To the standard signal light which alternately flashes a "Walk" and "Don't Walk" or "Wait" sign, a tape-recorded message is attached.

It is geared to operate with the signal.

"Be careful," the voice barks when the "Don't Walk" sign, meaning it's too late to leave the curb, starts flashing.

"It's now too late to cross. If you are in the roadway, cross quickly to the other side," the voice continues.

WHEN THE LIGHT turns red for traffic, the voice takes on a nastier turn.

"Don't walk," it orders. "Remember, jaywalking is against the law. You not only risk getting killed, but getting a summons as well."

Now, while I am in favor of snarling at jaywalkers, (they need it), I am thinking of people who, because of job or other reasons, must remain at the corner all day.

LIKE NEWSBOYS, traffic cops, clerks in corner stores. Seems to me it would get monotonous to hear that raucous voice bellow out his alternating warning two or three times a minute.

Reminds me of the out-spoken woman who complained to the Good Humor man because his jingle got on her nerves. "Madam," he replied. "You hear it for a few minutes. 'Remember, I hear it all day.'"

THAT THOUGHT about the new talking traffic light came to me as I read in my favorite newspaper, The Desert Sun, that four-way boulevard stops had been ordered at the intersection of Sunrise Way and the new McCallum Way-Tahquitz Drive.

It occurred to me that this would be a good place for the city's second traffic light. What with the number of automobiles on both streets.

AND THAT BRINGS to mind a related thought.

That name "McCallum Way-Tahquitz Drive" is pretty clumsy. Maybe a plan is already in the hopper but why not dream up a cool name for the thoroughfare.

Something like "Civic Center Drive," which is probably too long. Or "City Hall Drive" which is no longer than Palm Canyon Drive.

PERHAPS just "Civic Drive." Now, that's short.

Since it goes to the Civic Center, someone might want to name it Center Drive or Street.

But "Center Street" wouldn't be as katush as "Civic Drive." Was talking to a friend about this over a couple of hookers of sassafras tea and he told me I was balmy.

"I've got the natural name for it," he said. "It's alliterative and meaningful."

"Call it 'Airport Avenue.'"

STAN DELAPLANE: Time of Your Life

This being the social season, we had a teen-age party the other night.

I paid for it. Our daughter had the hysterics. We all pitched in and cleaned up afterward. That is the normal way we split responsibility around the house. It works out very well.

THERE WAS a good deal of energy around the scatter when I arrived. A covey of teen-age girls were on step-ladders, hanging colored crepe paper and sticking balloons on the rafters. (You rub the balloon on your head and it picks up enough magnetism to stick.)

The young ladies were a shimmering mass of curls.

HOW MANY people have you invited, my dears?

"Oh, about 60."

"WHAT?"

"About 60. But maybe more will come when they hear about it."

"Where do they pick up the glad word? Down at the pool hall?"

WELL, IT SEEMS that other kids just HEAR about the party. So they come with somebody else who was invited. Meantime —

"Will you run down and get the Cokes?"

"I will not run down and get anything," I said firmly. "I intend to sit here and sulk. How will you get 60 people in the house?"

"THERE WILL BE plenty of room." The ladies then proved to me with female logic that there was LOADS of room. "Because Josie gave a party for a HUNDRED. And their house is smaller than this."

We then retired to take the curls out of our hair. And I went down to dicker with the grocery man and figure by guess and slide rule how many Cokes 60 people can absorb.

ONE OF the major things to remember in these parties is to keep the phone open. For emergencies.

There are many emergencies. A half hour before party time, it turned out that somebody was going to wear her green dress. And that absolutely finishes our plan to wear OUR green dress.

A GOOD DEAL OF phoning went on about this. It is our feeling that if somebody says they are going to wear one thing, they should wear it. And not change at the last minute.

We then went into the problem of the bouffant petticoat. Ours is a mess (the fact that we threw it in the closet and put a suitcase on top of it is beside the point).

I made the emergency run for a borrowed one. Dinner was a little cold when I got back. But she pointed out that it didn't happen every day. That was nice. I never thought of it that way.

AT 8:30 OUR GUESTS began to arrive. They were mostly girls and they rushed upstairs to inspect costumes.

At 8:35 a few boys arrived with girls. The girls deserted en masse and rushed upstairs to improve their make-up and swap stories. The boys stood around in a lonely sort of way and discussed the horsepower of foreign cars.

AT 8:40 OUR daughter descended and greeted several more girls and boys. She rushed the girls upstairs and from the laughter, I gather it was a good party up there.

At 8:45 ALL the girls came down and talked to the boys. At 8:50, they all rushed upstairs again to talk it over. At 8:55, our daughter came down with hysterics and said she could not wear the borrowed petticoat because it kept slipping.

I POINTED OUT that it was better to wear your own and not put suitcases on it. I was denounced as a mean person with no understanding.

The party then went on with a good deal of laughter. Finally, everyone went home declaring: "T h a n k y o u f o r t h e w o n d e r f u l t i m e."

Our daughter retired, throwing the borrowed petticoat into the closet and putting a suitcase on top of it.

MIKE CONNOLLY:

Oscar Has a Party

HOLLYWOOD — It's news when the traditionally anti-social Oscar Levant throws a party. "I hate parties," Oscar told me, "because they are merely excuses for the invited guests to gossip about the uninvited guests — but come on over anyway and be bored."

Oscar's occasion: the presentation of an Oscar to his wife, June Levant, "for 20 years of tireless, selfless devotion to the world's worst hypochondriac."

THERE WERE FEW actors on hand at the "strictly family" affair — only Efreim Zimbalist Jr. and his wife, Stephanie; Jane Greer and her husband, Ed Lasker; Sammy Colt, son of the late Ethel Barrymore; and Anne Sterling, wife of screen-writer Charlie Lederer, who announced, "I'm late and I'm blind SOBER because I got perfume in my eye while dressing."

But there was plenty of news to be had from the top producers who showed up at the Levants' lovely home in Beverly Hills for a 6-to-9 p.m. party that didn't break up till 4 a.m. — including Jerry Wald, Arthur Freed, Lew Schreiber, Bill Hawks, Irwin Allen and Jimmy ("Room At The Top") Woolf who told me that his new picture "Expresso Bongo" with the same star, Larry Harvey, is breaking more boxoffice records in London than "Room" broke.

ARMAND DEUTSCH, producer of "The World of Carl Sandburg," told me he's trying to get "James Joyce," a new contender for the best-seller lists. Norman Corwin will be the play-wright on this fabulous fable about a genius who married a chambermaid (Nora Barnacle) and immortalized her as "Molly Bloom" in "Ulysses." I gave Deutsch some news too: it'll be a tug-of-war between himself and the producer who started the "Sandburg"-type "platform" craze in the theatre with "Don Juan in Hell" — Paul Gregory.

Arthur Freed, scooping some beef Stroganoff from the buffet set up under several Bernard Buffet paintings owned by the Levants, told me his next picture after "Bells Are Ringing" will be based on "The Gershwin Years." Another guest, Ira Gershwin, butted in with: "Yes, and we're going to concentrate our script on the Roaring '20s, aren't we, Art?" (Translation: Limiting the script to Gershwin songs written before 1930 leaves a grabbag of Gershwin goodies for future films).

FREED, WHO JUST finished "The Subterraneans," reported that the man whose bestseller he made into a movie is building a fancy new writing den onto his home with money he made from it. In other words, Jack Kerouac, Grand Nawab of the Beatniks, has gone uptown on all you cats! Or: How Un-Beat Can a Beatnik Get? Rocky Cooper listening in, said, "Kerouac lounging in a knotty-pine den? That's like casting Sam Levenson as King Lear!"

Other news items gathered, same party:

Vivien Leigh will star and British director Lee Thompson will turn producer for a film version of "Hedda Gabler."

EILEEN HECKART was all set to repeat her brilliant Broadway performance in "Dark At The Top of the Stairs" in the Warner Bros. film version. But Eve Arden gets it instead and Eileen couldn't be happier about it because the situation that wrecked her movie chance is expectant motherhood.

An actor with the appropriate name of Ed Shriner won the role of the psychiatrist who takes on Shelley Winters as a patient in "Let No Man Write My Epitaph."

DOROTHY PARKER (his news from her estranged spouse, Alan Campbell) is writing a story for Esquire's upcoming all-New York City issue about Manhattan's speakies of "the good old days." Its title: "Meet Mr. Benchley." Appropriate, too, since it was Bob Benchley's doctor who warned him to quit drinking because "it's slow death" and got this crack from his patient: "I'm in no hurry!" Champagne corks were still popping when I left the Levant "luau" at 4 a.m. No speeches, just fun, and only one toast, from June to Oscar: "Congratulations." Oscar's answer, terse but heartfelt: "Thanks!"

CHANNEL CHATTER — Japanese manufacturers will try shipping portable TV sets to the U.S. next spring, I'm told — to retail for a mere 50 bucks.

The Paramount powers-that-be are pleading with Jerry Lewis to delete one of his lines of dialogue from "Cinderella," his new movie, but Jerry's bound-and-determined it'll stay in the script as a slap-on-the-wrist for TV: "We now present Quizzo," says Jerry, playing an announcer, "that entertaining quiz game brought to you direct from the Senate investigating chambers in Washington!"

JOAN CRAWFORD'S Christmas gifts to her friends are donations to the Heart Association (her husband, Al Steele, died following a heart attack) and to the Multiple Sclerosis Association — donated in the names of those friends.

Jackie Gleason, that "ex-TV star," is so big on Broadway this season the ticket brokers are actually referring to "Take Me Along" as "The Gleason Show." That means he's big in Hollywood too. At any rate, big enough for 20th-Fox to finance him in a movie to be made in Paris next summer. Jackie submitted his own outline to the studio: it's called "Gigot," and he will play the title role himself, that of a mute concierge in a Left Bank hotel whose inability to hear or speak about the shenanigans of his guests cues the comedy.

LESLIE KENTON and her husband, Peter Dau, will make Stan Kenton a first-time grand-pap in May.

Orson Welles will produce and direct a spec starring Marlene Dietrich for BBC-TV in London after she finishes her record-breaking stand at the Theatre Etoile in Paris. Following which Orson will return to Dublin, where he got his start as an actor with the Abbey Theatre, to star as Falstaff in his own adaptation of the Bard's two "Henry IV" plays.

Religion Is Gaining

ST. SIMONS ISLAND, Georgia—Speaking before a national church conference in Dallas we reported the growth of the Baptist faith in Russia.

At the conclusion of our address a prominent churchman rose during the question period and asked, "When you reported the growth of Baptists in Russia, you didn't tell us whether they are Northern or Southern Baptists."

WE WERE TAKEN aback with this question and so were several thousand religious leaders and laymen in the auditorium.

We had to tell him as diplomatically as possible that there is no such thing as Northern or Southern Baptists in Russia . . . or anywhere else in the world, except in the United States.

THERE IS, OF course, no such thing as factionalism inside any faith in the world we cover. The fact that you are a believer . . . Christian, Jew, Moslem, Buddhist, or what have you . . . is all that matters.

Every religious faith around the world is growing, especially Christianity, but church attendance — or religious dogma — is losing. People are turning to God, but not necessarily to churches.

THEY ARE TURNING to the teachings of God . . . their God . . . their symbol of morality, right or wrong, love, charity, brotherhood . . . but not necessarily to churchianity, or to existing organized churches.

We don't know why this is so . . . but we do know that it is so — and has been so — on all of our six most recent news beats around the world in the past nine years.

IT IS EXTRAORDINARY for religion to be growing at a time when the world is preoccupied with so much physical determinism and emphasis on science and outer space. It is unusual — but not surprising — to those of us who have watched this global trend toward spirituality in recent years.

Once can conclude that the very emphasis on science and the possibility of world annihilation may have stirred this new interest in religion.

MAN'S DESPERATION, K. I world of more destructive weapons, perhaps impels him to explore the more spiritual interpretations of survival.

Everywhere you turn around the globe man seems frightened at the prospects of atomic crisis and is reaching out for solid rock on which to place his hope and faith. That rock is . . . religion.

IT IS, OF COURSE, regrettable that organized institutional religion is not holding its own at a time when the need is so great. It appears to us that most organized religions have been plagued for years with internal weaknesses.

This appears partly due to denominational feuds, divisions in ritual or dogma, fundamental or modern religious differences and other internal problems of organization, ritual and policy.

THIS HAS GREATLY disrupted many religious demonstrations at home and abroad and forced a large number among the faithful to drop out of well-known church groups and form new ones.

There are notable exceptions to this, like the Russian Baptist church which has grown from about 700 churches in 1933—at the time of Stalin's death—to over 5,000 churches in 1959.

A MORE CONCILIATORY Kremlin policy since 1953 has strengthened the Russian Orthodox church. There are exceptions also among the Soviet satellites.

Political expediencies in Poland, Yugoslavia, Czechoslovakia, Bulgaria have allowed the Catholic churches more freedom and flexibility, and the growth has been substantial.

BUT BEHIND THE Iron Curtain church attendance is also a protest against Communism as well as growing interest in religious participation. In areas like Greece and Cyprus the church is the main political power in support of the monarchy and conservatism.

Catholicism is a noted exception in church growth around the world. There is a stronger emphasis and consciousness of world-wide unity inside the Roman Catholic church than within any other single faith.

THIS IS ALSO TRUE among the Eastern branches of the Greek, Serbian and Russian Orthodox churches. Protestantism is gaining some ground, but the gain is spotted in areas like Formosa and Korea where the political leaders are devout Protestants (Methodists), as in the case of Presidents Chiang Kai-Shek of Free China and Syngman Rhee of Free Korea.

While these specific cases record growth in institutional religion, the world masses are either organizing new and more modern concepts of worship, or confine their spiritual inclinations outside of a church environment.

AROUND THE world Hebrew people are mounting in their devotion to Zionism, while the old traditional synagogue is weakening almost everywhere. In the United States the reformed synagogue is experiencing the greatest advance in Jewish history.

The struggle between India and Pakistan is being reflected in increased interest in the religious convictions of Moslem and Hindu. Here again is another example of political factors motivating an increase among the faithful.

THE SAME IS true in the struggle between the Arab and Jew in the Middle East, where both sides are being rallied by their leaders on the basis of spiritual survival.

For whatever the reason . . . nuclear fears, politics . . . or just man's new focusing interest in his divine origin . . . religious emphasis is increasing around the world . . . serving perhaps as a sobering balance to the increasing emphasis on nuclear science and the danger of human destruction.

—John Morley
